About Me

Envision a vibrant mix of creative leadership, courageous decision-making, and genuine enthusiasm for nurturing potential. Presenting Odetta Rockhead-Kerr – an inspirational leader whose quarter-century journey in leadership has been marked by transforming companies and enriching lives.

Odetta, who remarkably climbed to the position of vice president at the US Fortune 500 company Xerox at the young age of 25, despite not graduating from high school, dropping out of college upon her first enrollment, and facing the challenges of teenage pregnancy twice by the age of 17, is dedicated to empowering others to realize their fullest potential. Her journey exemplifies overcoming seemingly insurmountable obstacles, and she is passionate about guiding others to do the same. Through her profoundly candid and emotionally impactful self-help memoir, "No Regrets, Just Lessons: Odetta Rockhead, UNEDITED," she aims to transform lives by fostering a shift in mindset. Odetta extends her inspirational message via social media and public speaking, driven by a mission to impact as many lives as possible through the power of positive thinking.

Odetta retired from her corporate career at age 42 to devote herself to her entrepreneurial ventures and personal brand. She launched the Rockstar Academy on YouTube, a platform she created to ignite a movement towards financial independence through changing one's mindset. In just over a year, her channel attracted 900,000 subscribers, a testament to her compelling message and engaging content. Odetta's influence is further amplified by her coaching services, offered to the more than 9,000 members of her online Rockstar Club, which spans Patreon, YouTube Membership, and personalized one-on-one coaching sessions, solidifying her role as a mentor and guide for those seeking to reshape their lives and financial futures.

Odetta's dynamic range is her hallmark—she excels in multiple roles, seamlessly transitioning from being a dedicated mother and wife, to a successful author, a prominent executive on major corporate boards, a justice of the peace, an entrepreneur, a mindset coach, and a philanthropist. She holds both graduate and post-graduate qualifications in Business Administration, with a specialization in Marketing, underscoring her expertise and multifaceted capabilities.
